MOB LEADERS ARE KNOWN

Citizens Form Inter-Racial Committee To Curb Further Violence

By EMORY O. JACKSON

ATHENS, Ala. (Special)—Circuit Judge James H. Crow of Decatur was due in the city Tuesday or Wednesday to organize a special Limestone County Grand Jury to investigate the mass beatings of Negro citizens here Aug. 10 by a mob estimated at from 1,000 to 2,000 hoodlums, teen-agers, mill workers, farmers and a sprinkling of veterans. The inquisitors were svheduled to go to work on the "revolt against law" Monday, Aug. 13.

Nine "hoodlum leaders of the mob," ranging in ages from 14 to 41, arrested for unlawful assembly, one charged with carrying concealed weapons, in connection with the mob violence, were out on $300 bond on each count. Maximum penalty in the case is $500 fine and six months in jail. Cases are set for trial before County Judge D. L. Rosenau, Jr., Augu. 26.

Circuit Solicitor George C. Johnston said that the Aug. 10 mob uprising was the first instance of collective violence in the 150-year existence of this rural city of 5,000 population, of which about 1,200 are Negroes. He added "we will not tolerate mob rule" and assures that the riot cases will be "pushed to the limit." He indicated that indictments charging riot and rout will be asked when the inquistorial body meets Monday. Conviction in such cases would carry a maximum pen-

Over 700 Farmers Are Helped By FSA

MONTGOMERY—More than 700 Negro family type farm owners in Alabama will have an opportunity to see for themselves what is being accomplished in modern farming methods through visits to the various experiment stations arranged by the Farm Security Administration.

There are 749 of these new farm owners, all of whom are former tenants and sharecroppers. They purchased their farms with loans from the Farm Security Administration without a dime being required for a downpayment. They have a maximum of 40 years to repay the loans at three per cent interest and their annual payment oftentimes is less than the amount they once paid for rent.

The tours of experiment stations are the first sponsored by the Farm Security Administration. Heretofore the FSA supervisors have toured the stations and carried the information to the borrowers. Only a few had ever visited an experiment station.

At a meeting at Aliceville Experiment Station last week there were 87 borrowers, most of them with their wives and other members of their families, a poll was taken to ascertain how many had ever visited an experiment station. Only one replied in the affirmative. At a meeting of 39 white borrowers at the Aliceville stations it was disclosed that none of them had ever visited an experiment station.

Dr. L. A. Potts, director of agriculture, Tuskegee, was the principal speaker at the Aliceville meeting. He urged the borrowers to put into practice the forward looking farming methods employed at the experiment station.

At the Prattville station on August 6 there were 204 Negro borrowers present with their wives. Here they learned how corn yields could be increased 35 bushels per acre. They also learned how they could obtain $1,187 a year from hogs and $536 a year from cotton by the proper use of 27 acres. The plan

Negro Veterans To Hold National Meet In Little Rock, Ark.

National Council Of Negro Veterans Hold Annual Convention

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The National Council of Negro Veterans will hold its annual convention here this week with delegates from all sections of the nation in attendance.

The Council whose application for a national charter will be considered during the next session of congress has thousands of members with a post in nearly every state in the union. B. H. Muldrew, National Commander stated in a recent press conference that expansion plans to be discussed at the meeting should make this group become the largest Negro veteran organization in this country.

This organization was founded in 1939 after the leaders, all veterans of World War 1 had unsuccessfully tried to get the olde and larger veterans organiaztions to accept the Negro on a full and equal basis. Several states have state departments with many post and plans are now being made for a department in Alabama according to announcements made by Frank P. Thomas, Deputy tSate Organizer of Tuscaloosa. The Council stands for equal benefits for all Negro veterans and the intergration of Negro personnel in the Veterans Administering the program. While it is largely a Negro organiaztion its membership is open to all veterans regardless of race, color or creed.

Isaac Woodard Inducted Into Blind Veterans Association

NEW YORK—Isaac Woodard, Army veteran whose eyes were brutally gouged out by Aiken, S. C., troopers three hours after his discharge from service, was inducted into the Blinded Veterans Association on Thursday, Aug. 8. This organization is open only to those veterans who lost their sight in the service of their country. Lloyd H. Greenwood, executive director of the Association, feeling Woodard had earned his right to belong, made him a member.

Meanwhile, from all over the United States, contributions for the Isaac Woodard Trust Fund have been sent in by citizens who are shocked and enraged to discover in America the kind of vicious cruelty usually associated with only Nazis.

Contributions to date total $1,386.89. Of this sum, the newspaper PM has received $698.75 from its

Monday night and several other nights during the week, Troop 202 of which Mr. Emanuel Reed is Scout Master held meeting. Early Saturday morning the troop left enmasee for Brent, Ala., where they will camp for a week.

For three days during the week, the director taught several ladies in adult nursing. He hopes that enough ladies will become interested in Home Nursing as was taught by a Red Cross nurse. If you are interested, please notify the director so that the class can get started immediately. These classes will meet each Tuesday and Thursday nights for six weeks.

Wednesday afternoon a joint meeting of the two boards of directors for the center was held. The white board is led by Mr. J. T. McKee of Northport and the Negro Board is led by Rev. F. H. M. Williams. Business of future importance was discussed.

Thursday night the Negro Board of Director sponsored an elaborate banquet honoring the Bricklayers, Messrs. Carlton, Hall and Tucker who laid the stone walls in front of the Center. A plenty of tasty food was provided by the Board and this food was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Miss Ira nad Grace Toosan, Scouts Bennie Bell and Cliff Peoples and Mrs. C. P. Washington assisted in preparing and serving the food. Another highly interesting part of the banquet were interesting speeches by all the men present after they were served.

Friday evening and night a record number of young men and women were present participating in different games. The most popular and noisy partcipants were those around the checker, domino and ping-pong tables.

Tennis fans, the space has been cleared so that you can work on your tennis court. This is what is needed, one end of the court is slgihtly lower than the other. Eend or bring some clay or sand to fill in that low place. We have the net, we are just waiting for some of his help in preparing the court for play. The sooner you come out and help, the quicker you can begin romping across the court. We have ice water and plenty all hours of the day, cold drinks to refresh you after your play.

Mrs. Pool from Northport brought a lovely group of young people over last Thursday. She could hardly tear them away from the place. We invite all of you as individual or as groups to come out and use, but do not abuse the facilities that are here especially for you.

As a friend of the Negro race, Mr. A. R. Thornton, our president, has placed a picture show and cafe here for the Negroes. For the uplifting of the Negroes he placed Imperial Spreads Factory here. Starting with three colored women with Jim Walker in charges, Mesdames Mary Brown, Equillia Thomas and Ethel Lue Walker who began making napkins and shirts August 3, 1945.

Later we started making bed spreads and now we have three white managers, Mrs. Hotfield, Mrs. Burkey and Mr. Bob. They are very nice to the colored people.

Miss Willie Mae Johnson can design more than 60 spreads a day. There are some girls who can use eight needles making 39 or more a day. Among those are: Mesdames Lissie Gordin, Venuri Burn, Mary Brown, Equillia Thomas, Laura Walker, Guredim Jackson, Mary Talbert, Mary Tonibill, Martha Drakes, Rose Wilson. The finishing workers are: Lola Alexander, Wilber Brown, Pauline Thornton, Ruby Johnson, Annie Mae, Effie W[illegible]. Mrs. Holifield and Ethel Lue Walker, are the first inspectors of the spreads.

Rillie Pome and Margaret Brint, the girls that have been putting out 200 a day. Mr. C. R. Thornton, founder and president is a wonderful man and is doing much to help the Negro race.

The program of the 39th Expression service of the Rev. H. Lanier, pastor of Liberty Baptist Church Sunday was a success. Mr. Jackson, superintendent in charge of the Sunday School. Sermon by Rev. H. W. Talbert. Subject, "God Wants A Man." The 3 p. m. sermon

Money And Protests Flood NAACP Offices

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—The savage murder of two Negro farmers and their wives in Georgia has aroused the wrath of thinking people everywhere. Local branches of the NAACP have daily sent assurances to the national office that they are carrying forward the fight to end such criminal violations of the Constitution. Several branches have sent in more than the $10 each asked for as its share of the $10,000 reward offered by the NAACP for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arrogant Georgai lynchers.

From the Louisville, Ky., branch of the NAACP a check for $500 was contributed toward the reward offered for the lynchers' capture. The Los Angeles branch has pledged from $100 to $1,000 toward the fund.

In Houston, Texas, on the night of Aug. 15, all Negro residences and places of business were closed and the doors draped with black crepe so that everyone could attend a memorial service for the mob victims at the Baptist Church. At the NAACP demonstration, the first protest meeting in Texas since the lynchings, a resolution was passed asking for immediate anti-lynching legislation. Texas Negroes are well aware that the Klan can operate against them as well as in Georgia.

In Philadelpuhia, the local branch of the NAACP declared August 2 a day of mourning in connection with the lynchings. Many organizations in the city cooperated. Their actions were publicized by closing all stores for an hour at nono, wearing black arm bands, silencing all radios for thirty secnods, and by requests that all individuals pray silently in their homes for the two slain couples. Comrads and fellow veterans, across the country news is sweeping like a huge barn fire concerning the new National Service Life Insurance revisions and changes. Therefore, it is my aim this week that yau are actually familiarized with all of the fundamentals involved.

Sweeping legislative changes liberalizing National Service Life Insurance policies now make NSLI unqualifiedly the best of all insurance investments.

NSLI is now available to all honorably discharged veterans of World War II, whether or not they carried it while in uniform; lump sum paymants are now provided for beneficiaries; veterans may name any beneficiary they wish, including their estate or a corporation; several new type policies are provided and provisions for disability payments have been added.

Even before the new changes, insurance authorities were agreed that NSLI was the best insurance buy available. The new changes increase the flexibility of the policies to make them fit the needs of any former serviceman regardless of his financial or family status.

The following questions cover the highlights of the revised NSLI insurance program:

Q. What veterans are eligible for NSLI under the amended Act?

Views Of Pickens County

By J. W. HORTON

Upon my arrival at Aliceville, my first encounterment was Mr. W. L. Cook of Carrollton, our special representative in Pickens County, who was en route to The Lebanon Baptist Women's Convention which was in session at the First Baptist Church in Aliceville. It was quite pleasing to see him there, since I was intending to make a special Edition for Pickens County to show our appreciation to the hundreds of Pickens County citizens who have of late manifested so much interest in our paper, The Alabama Citizen and The Tuscaloosa Weekly-Reviek.

As I was in desperate need of someone to introduce me to the leading White merchants and business men of that town, and that being my first appearance there, I found Mr. Cook to be most valuable.

I find that the response of our White citizens there to succour us in our efforts to accentuate our progress in establishing any enterprise of a constructive nature is indeed very encouraging. Their slogan there seems to be, as all of the other elevated Whites in the towns which I have gone for the purpose of printing special pages in our paper, "Good Will to All and Better Relationship Between The Races." We have several Colored concerns here in Aliceville, and they seem to be very achieving and prosperous.

The progress of the Colored folk there, I decided, depends upon their own initiative to achieve. I also find that in every town I have entered, the white citizens are with the Colored 100 per cent when they are striving to elevate their group to the required level of intellectual citizenship, through the medium of constructive forces, elements, com-

Approximately 55 Negro borrowers attended the meeting at the Black Belt experiment station at Marion Junction on August 8. Dr. W. H. Dinkins, president of Selma University, was the principal speaker. He urged the borrowers to pay for their farms first, before becoming interested in automobiles and other costly necessities. Other speakers included Mr. Street, State Director Pearson, K. G. Paker, manager of the station and J. B. Beard, district FSA supervisor. Here the borrowers learned first hand how a grade B dairy farm of 80 acres could be made to pay big dividends by the application of the right kind of fertilizer to black belt land for the improvement of pasture and feed crops.

At the Headland Experiment station on August 7 there were 103 Negro borrowers from Barbour and Bullock counties, all of them new farm owners. J. P. Wilson, station manager, State Director Pearson and Marvin Durbin, district FSA supervisor, were the principal speaker. Here they learned the value of winter legumes and how row crops should be spaced and fertilized in South Alabama.

Alabama now has a total of 3,501 new farm owners, Negroes and white, all of whom are former tenants and sharecroppers, who became owners through the FSA.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8—The savage murder of two Negro farmers and their wives in Georgia has aroused the wrath of thinking people everywhere. Local branches of the NAACP have daily sent assurances to the national office that they are carrying forward the fight to end such criminal violations of the Constitution. Several branches have sent in more than the $10 each asked for as its share of the $10,000 reward offered by the NAACP for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the arrogant Georgai lynchers.

From the Louisville, Ky., branch of the NAACP a check for $500 was contributed toward the reward offered for the lynchers' capture. The Los Angeles branch has pledged from $100 to $1,000 toward the fund.

In Houston, Texas, on the night of Aug. 15, all Negro residences and places of business were closed and the doors draped with black crepe so that everyone could attend a memorial service for the mob victims at the Baptist Church. At the NAACP demonstration, the first protest meeting in Texas since the lynchings, a resolution was passed asking for immediate anti-lynching legislation. Texas Negroes are well aware that the Klan can operate against them as well as in Georgia.

In Philadelpuhia, the local branch of the NAACP declared August 2 a day of mourning in connection with the lynchings. Many organizations in the city cooperated. Their actions were publicized by closing all stores for an hour at nono, wearing black arm bands, silencing all radios for thirty secnods, and by requests that all individuals pray silently in their homes for the two slain couples. Telegrams and letters were sent to President Truman and to Attorney General Tom Clark asking the Federal Government to bring the culprits to justice.

A man in California mailed in his check for $25, though "he could ill afford it" to apprehend the "foul murderers."

The NAACP has received many similar letters and telegrams expressing sympathy and indignation over the recent wave of lynch terror sweeping the South. Typical of the feelings expressed in many of them is the one reproduced below, from a white woman in Oregon.

"Enclosed you will find my check for five dollars to aid in the work of hunting down and punishing the lazy white savages that rule our Southern states.

'Either the United States should declare martial law in those outlaw states where no Negro is safe from attacks by these white beasts, or else every Negro should be armed by the government so that he can defend himself and his home.

"I lived in the South once and listening to white loafers talk about 'lazy niggers' used to nauseate me. Never, all the time I was in the South, did I see a white man work. He seemed to think his job was to stand around and watch the Negroes work, or else look around for Negro women to attack. The Negro men are powerless to protect their women.

"And never did I eevr hear of a white woman attacked by a Negro. It was always the other way around —white men raping Negro women.

"And, in using the word 'loafe' in connection with white southern men, I do not mean the underprivileged whom the so-called southern 'gentleman' scornfully calls 'poor white trash,' but the soft spoken brute himself, who lives on thel abor of the Negro.

"I have traveled abroad and have always been ashamed of the South, whose savagery I could not defend. If I were a southerner I'd get rid of my accent so that no one would know I was a native of such a disgraceful part of the U. S.

"I am sending a copy of this letter to the Governor fo Georgia so that the white governor can know when an Oregonian thinks of a Georgian—the white kind whose hands are never soiled with honest work."

Cromwell says:

BUT YOU'RE UNCOMMON

I'm getting sick of having politicians and labor leaders pat me on the back and call me "the common man."

Anybody who does that to me is trying to KEEP me the common man.

I suggest that each of us common men begin to regard himself as the un-common man.

Every man has some talent, some trait, something unusual about him which justifies him in thinking of himself as un-common.

The most appealing thing about America is that it gives every man the chance to be "uncommon."

Comrads and fellow veterans, across the country news is sweeping like a huge barn fire concerning the new National Service Life Insurance revisions and changes. Therefore, it is my aim this week that yau are actually familiarized with all of the fundamentals involved.

Sweeping legislative changes liberalizing National Service Life Insurance policies now make NSLI unqualifiedly the best of all insurance investments.

NSLI is now available to all honorably discharged veterans of World War II, whether or not they carried it while in uniform; lump sum paymants are now provided for beneficiaries; veterans may name any beneficiary they wish, including their estate or a corporation; several new type policies are provided and provisions for disability payments have been added.

Even before the new changes, insurance authorities were agreed that NSLI was the best insurance buy available. The new changes increase the flexibility of the policies to make them fit the needs of any former serviceman regardless of his financial or family status.

The following questions cover the highlights of the revised NSLI insurance program:

Q. What veterans are eligible for NSLI under the amended Act?

A. Those who served in the armed forces between October 8, 1940 and September 2, 1945, are entitled to NSLI in any amount up to $10,000, whether he has ever had NSLI or not.

Q. What types of NSLI policies are available under the amended NSLI Act?

A. All of the permanent policies under the original Act plus 20-year endowment, endowment at the age of 60, and endowment at age of 65. Original policies provided ordinary life, 20-pay life and 30-pay life.

Q. Where can I get information about premium rates and cash values of the new endowment policies and how do I go about converting my present policy?

A. Visit the nearest contact office of the Veterans Administration or write to: Insurance Service, NSLI, Veterans Administration, Branch 5, Atlanta 3, Georgia. Any VA contact representative will assist veterans in filling out the necessary forms to convert NSLI policies.

Q. Whom may a policy holder name as beneficiary?

A. Any person, corporation, or legal entity including his own estate.

Q. How may I change my beneficiary on my NSLI?

A. Call in person at the nearest contact office or write to: Insurance Service, NSLI, Veterans Administration, Branch 5, Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Q. In what form should request for change of beneficiary be made?

A. Request for change over applicant's own written signature constitutes a valid application. Request should be written in ink. Give complete name of beneficiary. If the beneficiary is a married woman, her own first and middle name and husband's last name must be stated. State relationship if any.

Q. May a policy holder name more than one beneficiary?

A. Yes; the share of each should be clearly stated. (Example: 50 per cent; 30 per cent; 10 per cent.)

Q. How do total disability payments work out under NSLI's new provisions?

A. A veteran who is totally disabled for as long as six months is paid $50 a month on a $10,000 policy, or $5.00 a month for each $1,000. To obtain this additional policy provision, the insured must make application and pay an additional premium.

Q. May the entire amount of an NSLI policy be paid in a lump sum at the death of the policy holder.

A. Yes. Or the veteran may elect to have payments made on a monthly basis.

Veterans wishing questions answered in this column are urged to write, Prof. C. D. F. Wilkinson, Coordinator of Negro Vets, in care of The Tuscaloosa Weekly Review.

Pickens County

By J. W. HORTON

Upon my arrival at Aliceville, my first encounterment was Mr. W. L. Cook of Carrollton, our special representative in Pickens County, who was en route to The Lebanon Baptist Women's Convention which was in session at the First Baptist Church in Aliceville. It was quite pleasing to see him there, since I was intending to make a special Edition for Pickens County to show our appreciation to the hundreds of Pickens County citizens who have of late manifested so much interest in our paper, The Alabama Citizen and The Tuscaloosa Weekly-Reviek.

As I was in desperate need of someone to introduce me to the leading White merchants and business men of that town, and that being my first appearance there, I found Mr. Cook to be most valuable.

I find that the response of our White citizens there to succour us in our efforts to accentuate our progress in establishing any enterprise of a constructive nature is indeed very encouraging. Their slogan there seems to be, as all of the other elevated Whites in the towns which I have gone for the purpose of printing special pages in our paper, "Good Will to All and Better Relationship Between The Races." We have several Colored concerns here in Aliceville, and they seem to be very achieving and prosperous.

The progress of the Colored folk there, I decided, depends upon their own initiative to achieve. I also find that in every town I have entered, the white citizens are with the Colored 100 per cent when they are striving to elevate their group to the required level of intellectual citizenship, through the medium of constructive forces, elements, coming from social, religious and educational institutions. The only thing that impedes or retards the Colored man's progress in his own pussilaneous reactions.

We most highly appreciate the support of every firm which has so liberally supported the expansion and progress of our concern here in Tuscaloosa, and I appeal to all readers of The Alabama Citizen to recognize their advertisements on this page and visit their stores during your shopping tours in Aliceville.

I am sure that there are other firms that would have had advertisements on this page, but time would not permit me to stay to contact them as they were out of town during my campaign there.

I did chance to be present and enroll in the Lebanon Baptist Women's Convention and enjoyed the latter part of their program, but I was informed that I would not be able to get a synopsis of the program for this issue of our paper. I shall endeavor to present it in the next issue.

embodies a rotation of cotton, corn, peanuts and clover pasture, with three brood sows and one boar. Among the principal speakers were Dr. D. G. Sturkie, F. A. Bertram, superintendent of the station; William Street, field representative of FSA, Tuskegee, and M. H. Pearson, state FSA director.

Approximately 55 Negro borrowers attended the meeting at the Black Belt experiment station at Marion Junction on August 8. Dr. W. H. Dinkins, president of Selma University, was the principal speaker. He urged the borrowers to pay for their farms first, before becoming interested in automobiles and other costly necessities. Other speakers included Mr. Street, State Director Pearson, K. G. Paker, manager of the station and J. B. Beard, district FSA supervisor. Here the borrowers learned first hand how a grade B dairy farm of 80 acres could be made to pay big dividends by the application of the right kind of fertilizer to black belt land for the improvement of pasture and feed crops.

At the Headland Experiment station on August 7 there were 103 Negro borrowers from Barbour and Bullock counties, all of them new farm owners. J. P. Wilson, station manager, State Director Pearson and Marvin Durbin, district FSA supervisor, were the principal speaker. Here they learned the value of winter legumes and how row crops should be spaced and fertilized in South Alabama.

Alabama now has a total of 3,501 new farm owners, Negroes and white, all of whom are former tenants and sharecroppers, who became owners through the FSA.

readers. Other individuals and organizations sent contributions direct to the NAACP national office.

As evidnece of the interest aroused by the case, this is an encouraging sum. It is, however, hardly enough to compensate Woodard for the needless torture inflicted on him by lawless Southern terrorists. It is hoped that, in time, the fund will be sufficient to bring to this blind victim of mob violence some peace and security in the future.

Word has been received that the Texas Farmers Union protested Woodard's beating before he was brought to trail to both the Governor of South Carolina and to Attorney-General Tom Clark.

Mob Violence

alty of five years' imprisonment in the state penitentary.

Conflicting estimates of the size of the mobe and of the number injured have been given. State Highway Patrol Director Van Buren Gilbert indicated that from 15 to 20 Negro citizens were injured and that the mob numbered around 500.

Judge Rosenau who witnessed the incident estimated the size of the mob at from 1,000 to 2,000 men and the injured Negro citizens at 50 to 100.

There are equally varying versions of how and where the outbreak started. One is that Ben Massey, 23, veteran, and his brother, Roy Massey, 19, Army private, on coming out of a coffee shop were brushed into by two Negro pedestrians, a fight ensuing. Ben has said that he was hit by one of the men with brass knuckles and cut with a knife by the other. The Masseys live at Brown's Ferry, about 12 miles in the rural area from Athens.

Another version is that one of the Massey brothers, while the two were standing in front of the Ritz Theater, slapped and kicked the sister of L. C. Horton, a veterant and tenant former, who resented it with blows. Horton allegedly escaped.

Still another version is that the Massey brothers, with the incident underway, knocked down the man who bumped into them, with a second joining, and the two fleeing when the police came.

Limestone County Sheriff H. C. Garrett, in an interview Monday said he did not know the exact origin of the incident, except those generally officially related, but that when a mob voice yelled, with the prisoners in custody of the law, "If the officers are on the side of the Negroes, we should not let them kick us around," that he reminded them that he was not on anybody's side but the law. He asserted that a brother to the sought Horton offered himself as a hostage, if that would quiet the mob until his brother gave up or was found. Sheriff Garrett said that he could not hold Horton's brother on any such terms since he had not violated any laws.

Acting Police Chief J. B. Hargrove and Day Patrolman Stroud Norton, only two law enforcement officers on duty in the city, arrested the two brothers on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, carrying them to jail.

Stirred by a mob inciter whose names has not been disclosed, a mob gathered at the entrance of the combination City-Hall-jail, demanding the release fo the two white brothers, ripping off the doors at the bottom of the stairway. The two officers, one with raised pistol, held back the mob. Oneo fficer fired into the mob, his gun being allegedly deflected by the partner officer, the bullet going over the head of the mobsters.

Mayor R. H. Richardson, Jr., pleaded with the mob to disperse, promising to release the brothers to their father, Clairborne "Crow" Massey. On release of the two brothres, they headed the mob, it is said, that went back to the Ritiz theater, searched it for their alleged assailant. It is said that Judge Rosenau and Ritz Manager Robert Cannon suggested to the mobsters that six of their number go into the theater balcony and seek out their alleged assailant, but that the group broke in, the theater emptying.

A mobster is then said to have howled, "et's clear the streets of all n. . ." and loud-mouthed that no Negroes be allowed in the show again. There are various colorations and versions of this incident. One account puts it before the jail storming scene, the other after it.

The mob broke up into small, roving, Gestapo-like bands.

An interracial committee composed of seven white and eight Negro citizens met in courthouse Sunday night to plan action designed to have a special grand jury investigate the mass meeting of Negro citizens made up of 500 hoodlums, cotton mill workers and cotton patch crackers.

While names of the Negro and white committee were not disclosed, they are described as the substantial and best people of this rural city. The committee would have veterans organizations probed and civil liberties of Negroes protected, it was said.

Two of the ten Negro churches suspended services, namely Trinity Congregational pastored by Rev. J. C. Wilson of Huntsville and Frazier Chapel C. M. E. Church of which Rev. J. H. Harris is the minister. Rev. Wilson was called by long-distance and told to remain at home as one Baptist minister had been beaten getting off the bus.

Rev. J. R. Powell of Nashville, pasotr of James Chapel Baptist Church reportedly arrived by bus during the four-hour revolt against law, was unabel to hire a cab, was beaten by the mob and ordered off the streets despite his pleas of being a preacher. A total of 50 men and womne were said to be slugged and chased off the streets.

The mob went on jobs and tried to get Negreos with their employers bravely fighting back and defending them. It was said that a white operator of a filing station locked Robert Caldwell in the white bathroom to hide him from the revolters. White merchants hid their black customers and underground them to safety. An elderly woman was so severely knocked around, beaten and terrified that she lost her purse. The disturbance began at 1 p.m. and lasted until 5 p.m. when all the stores were shut down. Around two to three thousand white people were estimated in the city.

The state highway patrolmen guarded the Negro section all Saturday night equipped with riot weapons and gas. Negroes who fled back to their homes armed and were ready to defend themselves unto death, it is said.

A mobster is then said to have howled, "et's clear the streets of all n. . ." and loud-mouthed that no Negroes be allowed in the show again. There are various colorations and versions of this incident. One account puts it before the jail storming scene, the other after it.

The mob broke up into small, roving, Gestapo-like bands.

An interracial committee composed of seven white and eight Negro citizens met in courthouse Sunday night to plan action designed to have a special grand jury investigate the mass meeting of Negro citizens made up of 500 hoodlums, cotton mill workers and cotton patch crackers.

While names of the Negro and white committee were not disclosed, they are described as the substantial and best people of this rural city. The committee would have veterans organizations probed and civil liberties of Negroes protected, it was said.

Two of the ten Negro churches suspended services, namely Trinity Congregational pastored by Rev. J. C. Wilson of Huntsville and Frazier Chapel C. M. E. Church of which Rev. J. H. Harris is the minister. Rev. Wilson was called by long-distance and told to remain at home as one Baptist minister had been beaten getting off the bus.

Rev. J. R. Powell of Nashville, pasotr of James Chapel Baptist Church reportedly arrived by bus during the four-hour revolt against law, was unabel to hire a cab, was beaten by the mob and ordered off the streets despite his pleas of being a preacher. A total of 50 men and womne were said to be slugged and chased off the streets.

The mob went on jobs and tried to get Negreos with their employers bravely fighting back and defending them. It was said that a white operator of a filing station locked Robert Caldwell in the white bathroom to hide him from the revolters. White merchants hid their black customers and underground them to safety. An elderly woman was so severely knocked around, beaten and terrified that she lost her purse. The disturbance began at 1 p.m. and lasted until 5 p.m. when all the stores were shut down. Around two to three thousand white people were estimated in the city.

The state highway patrolmen guarded the Negro section all Saturday night equipped with riot weapons and gas. Negroes who fled back to their homes armed and were ready to defend themselves unto death, it is said.

liaison officer to work with the state's 85,000 Negro veterans, according to C. C. Horton, state service commissioner.

Duties of the new officer will be to acquaint Negro veterans of Alabama with their benefits and rights under the GI Bill. He will travel throughout the state.

Revival at Tabernacle Baptist Church

SELMA, Ala.—The Tabernacle Baptist Church is in the midst of a great revival. The Rev. D. B. Edwards, the honored pastor of the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, is doing the preaching. Mrs. Johnnie Howard Franklin is leading the singing relative to the song services of the church. She is indeed a great gospel singer, and many come to hear that sweet and melodious voice in the singing of the gospel songs.

Rev. D. B. Edwards, who is of Fairfield, is one of the greatest preachers on the American platform today. Whenever his voice is lifted up, in the gospel people are inspired to live closer to Christ and become soul-winners.

Mrs. Johnnie Howard Franklin is staging one of her usual and yet important concerts on Monday night, August 12th. If you desire to hear the classics, and every now and then a gospel message in song, come out to the Tabernacle Baptist Church, on Monday night, Aug. 12, at 7:30 p. m., the program will begin promptly at 8 p. m. The admission is 25 cents for all.

There are 20 souls to be baptized as a result of this revival.

Rev. D. V. Jemison is pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church.
